Some speculated on the inclement weather and/or You Tube was having difficulties during the webcast time.
2. To watch after the fact
  - a. Click on the <https://youtube.com/tceqnews> or the TCEQ YouTube Channel link

The screenshot shows the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality (TCEQ) website. The header includes the TCEQ logo and name, a search bar, and navigation links for Home, Air, Land, Water, Licenses, Permits, and Reporting. The main content area is titled "Webcasts from the Commissioners' Agenda Room" and features a video player with a play button. The text below the video player provides information about live webcasts and a link to the TCEQ YouTube Channel. A sidebar on the left contains links to various sections of the website, and a footer at the bottom includes a customer satisfaction survey link.

3. Click on Videos under the TCEQNews

The screenshot shows the YouTube channel page for TCEQNews. At the top left is the TCEQ logo, which features a stylized sun and water waves above the letters 'TCEQ'. The background of the header is a blue sky with white clouds. Below the header, the channel name 'TCEQNews' is displayed. A navigation menu includes 'Home', 'Videos' (which is underlined in red), 'Playlists', 'Channels', and 'About', along with a search icon. Below the menu, there is a 'Back' button and an 'Uploads' dropdown menu. The main content area displays two video thumbnails. The first video is titled 'Drinking Water Advisory Work Group - October 16, 2018' with a duration of 2:39:10 and 'No views · 1 hour ago'. The second video is titled 'Water Quality Advisory Work Group - October 16, 2018' with a duration of 28:05 and '1 view · 2 hours ago'. Both thumbnails show a meeting in progress with several people seated at a long table.

Note that the icons for today's DWAAG & WQAWG are both listed at the beginning of the video section.

Click on the WQAWG and you will be able to view the video.
